

Art equipment list

Watercolour brushes: Round no 2, 6 & 10 Please buy decent quality brushes. Acrylic (man-made) sable hair brushes are fine.

My suggestion is: Acrylic man-made sable brushes: Round no 2, 6 & 10 (fairly inexpensive) Also a Rigger brush and flat brush is useful.

Cheap paint brushes: cheap old small and medium sized brushes, useful for mixed media work, washes and for applying masking fluid and gesso. You can get value packs from WH Smiths or Wilko

Watercolour paints: Windsor & Newton paints in tubes 'Cotman' range 0.27ml : Scarlet Lake, (Permanent Carmine/ or Alizarin Crimson Hue), French Ultramarine, Manganese, Windsor Lemon, (Windsor Yellow/or Cadmium yellow), Burnt Umber, Burnt Sienna, Neutral Tint, Chinese white, Lamp black, Cerulean blue,

GPR012M

In Stock Price £20.50

A3 Sketchpad A3 Watercolour paper pad (optional)

A drawing board: You will need at least one (two is better) MDF drawing board big enough to hold an A3 sheet of paper and enough space around the A3 paper to apply gummed tape. We will go through stretching paper in the tutorial. You can buy these online or from art shops, but it's cheaper to get a sheet of MDF cut to size 40 x 50 cm (from B&Q or Homebase) Depending on what size you wish to work, please bring a drawing board suit sizes of paper A3 or A2. This will need to include an extra area to accommodate tape for stretching paper, for example: 40cm x 50 cm for A3 paper.

Gummed paper tape & sponge: You will need a roll of gummed paper tape and a sponge (an ordinary sponge from boots is fine) to stretch the watercolour/mixed media paper in the class

These items should be available to buy from art shops; however, if you are able to shop online, I recommend Jacksons art supplies, as it's cheaper: (www.jacksonsart.com) Also 'The Range' store has a good selection of materials. WH Smiths Reading have a good selection as well. SHP has Indian ink, fine line water based pens, HB and drawing pencils, charcoal, chalk available for use.
